How to sign up for eRefund (direct deposit)

Congratulations! You are now signed up for eRefund.

- Please note – eRefund deposits are not instantaneous.
Sorry, this does not work like Venmo.
- When you receive confirmation that we have sent your eRefund, that means that we have notified our bank to send money to your bank.
- The funds may be available in your account within 48 hours, however, all financial institutions vary so we cannot give you an exact date.
- Your bank will follow their own process to put the money in your account.
- If you haven't received your funds within four days, there could be a problem with the account information you provided, or your account has since been closed.
 - If so, your bank will return the money and we will send you a rejection email telling you what to do next.
 - Please wait until you receive the rejection email before changing your account information.
- All emails will be sent to your preferred email account as designated in your Student Center.
